Program Description

The Executive MBA/MS in Healthcare Leadership dual-degree program in New York City prepares healthcare professionals to facilitate change and drive innovation—from inside organizations and throughout the industry at large. Two powerhouses in graduate education—the Samuel Curtis Johnson Graduate School of Management and the Weill Cornell Graduate School of Medical Sciences—have partnered to create a dual-degree program that focuses on building general management skills and developing a deeper understanding of the healthcare industry. This two-year executive program will advance a student's career and strengthen their ability to drive meaningful change in healthcare. In this 60-credit, 22 month program, students will earn both the MBA and MS degrees. Students in the EMBA/MS in Healthcare Leadership program must take at least 6 credits of coursework each semester to be considered a full-time student. For additional information, see the Executive MBA/MS in Healthcare Leadership (<https://www.johnson.cornell.edu/programs/emba/healthcare-leadership/>) website. This program follows a Non-Standard Calendar (p. 1).
